The Truth: About the Five Primary Religions is the Institute’s award-winning debut publication and the first book in the Oracle foundational trilogy. The Truth is a comparative study of the mythology, history, and politics of the five primary religions (Hinduism, Judaism, Buddhism, Christianity, Islam), which are based on a patriarchal view of God and no longer serve humanity. While not advocating any belief system, Oracle asserts that these now ancient religions are polarizing humanity and need to be synthesized and updated in order to fulfill their primary function: To foster Earth plane peace and lead humanity toward Ethereal plane enlightenment.

The Love: Of the Fifth Spiritual Paradigm picks up where The Truth left off, by exploring the core message of the ancient prophets: Love is the Way. Again, Oracle does not endorse a belief system; we underscore the obvious conclusion that orthodox religion has failed to produce spiritual unity. We also acknowledge the absence of a contemporary theology capable of uniting all people of faith. Therefore, the only rational path for our physical survival and spiritual evolution is Love. Over 70 luminaries contributed to this anthology, including: Maya Angelou, Archbishop Desmond Tutu, Wendell Berry, Bill McKibben, Barbara Hand Clow, David Suzuki, Alex Grey, and Andrew Cohen.

Trusting Doubt: A Former Evangelical Looks at Old Beliefs in a New Light is the Institute’s second award-winning publication by author and Huffington Post journalist Valerie Tarico, Ph.D. Most Christians earnestly strive to follow the compassionate ministry of Christ, but a belief that the Bible is literally true puts them in the odd position of defending falsehood, bigotry, and violence. Tarico shows how fundamentalism demands absolute loyalty from believers and can leave their moral intuition shattered. As a former Evangelical herself, Tarico is able to share the information needed to release outdated dogma and reclaim a deep, vigorous process of spiritual inquiry.

Deas and Other Imaginings: Ten Spiritual Folktales for Children is a collection written by psychologist Valerie Tarico, Ph.D., and illustrated by Tony Troy. Together, they have woven a tapestry of ten timeless tales and created a world where ideas – “DEAS” – literally come to life. In this magical and morally challenging realm, hard-won lessons are taught by trolls, animal guides, and magi who guide young heroes and heroines to safety, but only after offering an adventure which teaches essential and eternal spiritual values: honor, perseverance, empathy, courage, and love.

Dying to Learn: First Book of the Initiate is the premier book in an esoteric trilogy written by Oberto “Falco” Airaudi, the founder of The Federation of Damanhur in Italy, considered the most “Utopian” community on the planet. In this dystopian novella, Capitalism has failed and our world is in chaos. In this “End Times” setting, an Avatar named OroCritshna has come to earth to teach and to guide the resurrection of the human race. Like the prophets before him, OroCritshna finds few who are ready to become Initiates. Will you understand his messages of Truth, Love, and Light?
