Divine Attunement: Music as a Path to Wisdom

The Oracle Institute Press and acclaimed musician Yuval Ron are pleased to announce the release of Divine Attunement: Music as a Path to Wisdom, with a Foreword from Pir Zia Inayat-Khan, Ph.D., spiritual leader of Sufi Order International. Mr. Ron is an award-winning composer, international performer, and dedicated peace activist. His career includes work in film, television, radio, dance, and theater. To date, he has produced more than 20 CD's and over 100 musical compositions.

“Musical is the language of the soul,” explains Mr. Ron, and his book is a collection of legends, personal reflections, and meditations on the power of sacred sound and ritual movement. Beautifully illustrated and containing research from leading neuroscientists on how music heals the mind, body, and spirit, Divine Attunement guides the reader toward greater creativity, joy, and a closer connection to the Divine.

Mr. Ron was born in Israel and moved to the United States when he was twenty-two years old. He graduated cum laude from the prestigious Berklee College of Music in Boston, Massachusetts, and in 1999, he formed The Yuval Ron Ensemble to “alleviate national, racial, religious and cultural divides by uniting the music and dance of the people of the Middle East.” The ensemble includes Jewish, Christian, and Muslim artists who create musical bridges between people of various faiths and ethnicities around the world. The ensemble’s CD’s – such as Seeker of Truth, The Tree of Life, and Under the Olive Tree – are international favorites and have been featured on NPR’s “Echoes” and “Hearts of Space” programs.

Among his many achievements, Mr. Ron composed the score for the Oscar-winning musical West Bank Story. In 2008, he performed at the Seeds of Compassion Festival for His Holiness the Dalai Lama. Mr. Ron’s ensemble has been featured four times at the World Festival of Sacred Music in Los Angeles, and in 2004, he received the Los Angeles Treasure Award. In 2007, the ensemble performed at the International Oud Festival in Jerusalem as part of a “Peace Mission Tour” to Israel, and in 2011 the ensemble performed in Istanbul and conducted another “Peace Mission Tour” in Turkey.
